1. In response to HQ 7874 we wired today as follows: "Dr. [redacted] medical contact [redacted] material used at the [redacted] meeting in April 1955 was mescaline analogues, not LSD which has no derivatives [redacted], with [redacted], is doing the investigating and has studied over 100 compounds of mescaline." US physician a certain aspect

2. The physician had this additional information which he said he was sure you were aware of: [redacted] Two scientists of the [redacted] either instigated or are associated with [redacted] in this program, which has a grant from the U.S. Government [redacted], Washington, D. C. The products being used have all been synthesized. They have studied the effects of these drugs and have been working on the relationship between the structure of phenethylamines and their effects on the enzyme activity of the brain with the aim of finding a mescaline analogue which will antagonize the action of mescaline. The physician also stated that [redacted] a pharmacologist at [redacted], is also investigating mescaline analogues. a person who a US university

3. The physician informed [redacted] that his investigation of Rivea Corymbosa or Piule is going forward, and he expects to have a report on this in late October. He is most enthusiastic about this research.

4. When [redacted] was here in April 1955, he told the physician that he felt sure he could get a supply of mushroom alkaloids from Amanita Pantherina. If you have a supply available, would you please send it on to this office?

5. Have any steps been taken to get a clearance on [redacted] (see our memo 194-55 of 28 April 1955). [redacted] feels that it would be most helpful in his investigations to have [redacted] "on the team". [redacted] returned to the [redacted] in July 1955 after a two-or-three-year period of loan to the U. S. Public Health Service in Washington. Please let me know if you do not have the necessary biographical material for a name check, and I will forward it to you. the U.S. scientist this man
