MEMORANDUM FOR: THE RECORD

SUBJECT : Trip Report, Visit to [redacted]
7 April 1958

1. The purpose of this trip was to make arrangements for closing out the [redacted] project. [redacted] had been given ample previous notice that such was likely to be the intent of the visit, and he prepared himself accordingly.

2. It was explained to [redacted] that it would not be possible to carry over funds beyond the end of the current fiscal year. Therefore all work would have to be completed and all payments made prior to 30 June. This deadline appeared acceptable to him, and it was agreed that I would make my final visit there to receive reports and attend to final details on 16 June. [redacted] did not have a current financial report, but he estimated that funds currently on hand would be about sufficient for remaining expenditures. He agreed to send the Society within the next 10 days a more exact statement of current balance and estimated remaining expenditures. I tried to impress on him strongly that transfer of additional funds and/or return of unexpended funds must be completed well before the end of the fiscal year.

3. Of the 30 cases called for in the original design 18 have been completed (but only 4 have been transcribed from the tapes). In addition there are 8 cases in progress (of which two are already in interview and 6 are worked up to the point of having the lists of questions prepared). It was agreed that to meet the deadline we would have to limit the design to these 26 cases.

4. It is apparent that [redacted] is so involved in the administrative problems of the project that he is not paying any attention to the results. Since to date only 4 cases have been transcribed there is no way of telling what is coming out of it. I assume there were no dramatic reactions, because the interviewers would have let him know about them had they emerged. It is possible, however, that our own analysis of the data may dredge up something of value, although I am dubious on this point.

5. [redacted] gave me his usual long involved talk on the difficulties he had encountered which account for the delays. He also talked at some length about his "experiments" with hypnosis, some aspects of which are mildly hair-raising. Finally he made quite a pitch for continuing some such project as this next year, "with realistic, specific deadlines." I told him we would discuss possibilities after the present project was completed and we had a chance to closely examine the take.

[redacted]

At the request of Mr. G., I telephoned the [redacted] and spoke with [redacted] secretary, about one safe and two tape recorders.

As far as she knows the safe is in the Recorder's own office and the two recorders are at the [redacted].

She also stated that they would like to be able to keep the safe if possible. She also mentioned that [redacted] who is no longer with them had stated sometime in the back that he would be interested in purchasing one of the tape recorders.

The [redacted] had not been aware that this equipment was to be returned.

Please advise re whether this equipment should be recovered or whether it should be conveyed to the [redacted] or other agencies in the area??

Dear Mr. [redacted]

The experiment designed to test the effectiveness of certain medication in causing individuals to release guarded information has been completed in accordance with the original experimental design, with the exception that 25 instead of 30 cases were used. This matter was discussed in more detail in my letter of July 15. Abstracts on all 25 cases, transcriptions of the interviews, Wechsler-Bellevue Intelligence Tests given at the hospital and previously given at this clinic, post-experimental rankings and evaluation sheets, and a schedule covering the drug administration have all been submitted to you under separate cover.

Enclosed is a financial statement which represents the final accounting of the funds allocated by you for use in this project. If, for your purpose, you require a more detailed summary of what specific professional services were performed or more detail with reference to travel expenses or any other item, kindly let me know.

You will note, in this connection, that Dr. [redacted] was compensated in an amount exceeding that paid to Dr. [redacted]. This was occasioned by the fact that Dr. [redacted] spent much time checking the files and records at the [redacted] and [redacted] Prison selecting cases that might be suitable for our purpose. It was from the cases selected by him that the subjects used in the experiment were finally chosen.

I have been instructed to write a check to the Society for the balance in the account as of today. I would like to delay this matter for a few days. Several checks have been written during recent days, and I would like to be sure they cleared the bank in [redacted] before closing out the account. You will receive a check in the amount of $1356.26 early next week.

[redacted]

If there is any additional information required, I will be happy to cooperate.

Dear Mr. [redacted]

The research project in [redacted] is moving forward at a rapid pace. For some time we were held up by our inability to build a large backlog of patients at one time. These problems have been resolved.

During the calendar year 1956 our expenditures were as follows:

Professional Services	$ 2468.75
Travel and Hotel Expenses	179.26
Total Expenditures	$ 2648.01
Balance on Hand, 2/25/57	$ 7950.63 10598.64

At the present moment, several of the workers have not been paid for professional services, and there will be an immediate outlay of several thousand dollars. It is suggested that another check in the amount of $10,000 be forwarded to the writer for deposit in his [redacted] account.

Dear [redacted]

I am pleased to report that eleven subjects have been completed, and the two boys at the hospital are waiting for more abstracts. I am going to the hospital next Saturday, March 2, and will discuss this initial phase of the venture and also get the boys going on the next series. The doctor from [redacted] is ready to join the party and I will send you an additional progress report later.

As a matter of fact, after I return from the hospital I will drop you a note early next week and let you know what the boys had to say about the initial run-through.

Enclosed is a brief financial statement which you may give to the auditors or whoever wants it. As you can see, our current bank balance is $7950. I have not paid myself for all the work I have done on the questions, etc., and certainly when we pay the doctors for the time they are spending on the project now, and when I pay myself, the account will be pretty badly depleted. I would suggest that another check, perhaps in the amount of $10,000, be sent to me as soon as possible for deposit in the account.

I have your letter of 21 February 1955. The information contained therein is perfectly clear, and I will follow your instructions in the future.

I have a question with reference to Item No. 4. Am I to understand that I should not use my own name in future correspondence? I don't see how the use of my own name can be avoided when vouchers and similar items are submitted in the future.

Moreover, as I indicated in a recent telephone conversation, I have a problem with reference to one of my Judges. I made casual mention of this situation when you visited me in my office some time ago, but I would like to outline the situation in some detail in a letter to you. Since a question of clearance for this particular Judge will be involved, it will be necessary that I give you his full name.

If future communications to me are to be sent Registered Mail, I would advise sending them to my office as you did on this occasion, rather than to my home. Very often there is no one at my home during the daytime hours, and if letters were sent there it would be necessary that I pick them up at the Post Office, so please write to me at my office address.

As soon as you respond to this letter, I will write you at some length on matters of mutual interest.

Dear [redacted]:

I am sorry that the holiday season prevented my giving attention to details of the project until the past week.

I went to [redacted] last Saturady, January 8, and spent the day there gathering material for the personal history statements which are enclosed. The doctor was most cooperative and turned the necessary files over to me. As you might suspect, many of the questions could not be answered because the information would not be available unless I had a personal interview with the applicant and this, as you know, was inadvisable.

Enclosed also is a letter which [redacted] - C asked me to write so that he might show it to his superiors. This letter will come at a very opportune time, because the doctor showed me other correspondence from the State Hospital Commission in which they inquired as to the use he was making of some of the newer drugs, the inference being that they approve activity of this kind.

I am trying to set up the meeting of the entire group, exclusive of the two men whose questionnaires I enclosed, so that we can discuss the project and send to you a research outline. After the research outline is received by you, it is my understanding that a second meeting will be held, at which time medical advisers from your end will be present for the purpose of providing specific information.

I had an interview with the safe man, and the particular package we will need will cost $593.10. No sales tax need be paid and a 10% discount is granted. The above figure is the net cost. I wonder if this is in line with what you and your associates expected. I would like the green light from you on the purchase price so that I can order right away. I must wait two weeks for delivery and I already have material in my files which should be in a place of safe-keeping.

In this connection, perhaps money from the project budget should be forwarded to me without delay. There will be not only the cost of the safe but traveling expenses for myself and for [redacted], who must come in from [redacted] to these meetings. In any case, we will keep a strict accounting of expenditures, but we could use some money.

Enclosed you will find three vouchers and my signature is attached. I wish you would fill in the details. I don't know exactly what should be included and I am not certain of the dates that you were here. Any entries you make and whatever amount is proper will, of course, meet with my approval. I am particularly anxious to hear from you about the safe so that I can order immediately.

STATEMENT OF AGREEMENT

In consequence of previous discussions, I, the undersigned, agree to institute a research program aimed at discovering new methods of attacking the growing problem of criminality with particular emphasis on the care and treatment of the sexually deviated offender.

I will enlist the aid of several professional men experienced and interested in the field of criminology and organize a research team to carry out carefully planned scientific experiments designed to throw additional light on this difficult problem. I will secure the co-operation of state and city officials in order that the planned research can be carried out in the most advantageous setting.

I agree to secure receipts for the expenditure of monies and submit a monthly report of expenditures.

Finally, I shall supervise the submission of complete scientific reports of the research findings at periodic intervals.

In order to carry out the research program, I am to receive from the sponsor sufficient money to defray the costs of the Project for one year such money not to exceed the budget of expenses mutually agreed upon and attached hereto.

It is my understanding that method of payment shall be cashier's check to me upon periodic submission of invoices.

In selecting groups of subjects for experimentation, the following objectives will be sought:
