MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT

The purpose of this Memorandum of Agreement is to set forth the mutual administrative responsibilities of the principal research investigator and the sponsor. Therefore, it is mutually agreed that,

A. The principal investigator shall submit to the sponsor, at six month intervals, an informal statement of expenditures of monies advanced for research activities. It is requested that the statement be submitted in essentially the following form:

Personal Compensation
  Salaries
  Subjects' fees
Equipment
Supplies and Services
Travel
Overhead
Contingencies

B. The investigator shall, upon completion of the program, return to the sponsor any unexpended funds that had been advanced for the research program.

C. The investigator shall open and maintain a special bank account for receipt of all funds advanced by the sponsor. In addition to this, the investigator shall sign a Declaration of Trust on the special bank account.

D. Title to permanent equipment purchased with funds advanced to the principal investigator shall remain with the sponsor. Upon completion of the program the sponsor will instruct the investigator as to the method and mode of disposal.

E. It is agreed that any travel expenses incurred in the furtherance of the research program and paid by funds advanced the investigator shall be documented. It is understood that "documented" means the submission to the sponsor of the trip itinerary, dates traveled, transportation ticket stubs, hotel bills, and any other pertinent receipts that are available, within the sponsor's policy framework. Any expense incurred for which a receipt is not obtainable must contain a statement to the effect that the receipt was not obtainable. Trip expense accountings and documentation shall be submitted with the requested six month informal expenditure statements.

F. Technical reports will be submitted on research progress at least quarterly.

MEMORANDUM FOR: THE RECORD

SUBJECT : MKULTRA, Subproject 57

1. The purpose of Subproject 57 is to initiate research work on sleep and insomnia by Dr. [redacted] and [redacted] both of the Department of Physiology, [redacted]

2. The scope of the research program will be to pursue studies on problems related to sleep and insomnia. Research will be conducted along the following lines of investigation: Determining the etiology of sleep, the physiology of sleep, distinguishing natural sleep from sleeplike conditions produced by various narcotic and soporific drugs, the physiological changes produced by prolonged insomnia secondary to external stimuli and analeptic drugs and the extent and effects of prolonged physical fatigue, mental fatigue and sensory deprivation upon insomnia.

3. This program will be under the cognizance of Dr [redacted], Branch II, TSS/CD. Dr. [redacted], has been designated project officer. It is expected that Dr. [redacted] will monitor this project from the Department of Physiology, where arrangements have been made for his appointment as an Associate Research Professor (without compensation). It is felt that this cover arrangement will permit Dr. [redacted] to properly monitor the project and, in addition, offer attractive possibilities for future utilization of this arrangement for other cover purposes.

4. As an integral part of the above cover arrangement, it is contemplated that the program will be ostensibly financed through a cutout organization in [redacted]

Charges should be made against Allotment 6-2502-10-001. Mr. [redacted] will not receive any personal compensation from the budget of $5,500.00. This budget was established to permit him to attend various scientific meetings, or undertake other travel in connection with matters of interest to TSS/CD. Also, from time to time, he will be requested to undertake scientific tasks divergent from his established work, and this fund will be used to securely procure any necessary supplies and equipment. Mr. [redacted] has agreed to establish a separate bank account and sign a Declaration of Trust. He has also agreed to comply with the Memorandum of Agreement.

6. It has been requested that the University submit a summary accounting of monies received from the sponsor. They have also been requested to return to the sponsor any unexpended funds received.

7. Title to any permanent equipment purchased by funds granted the University shall be retained by them in lieu of higher overhead rates.

8. It was mutually agreed that documentation and accounting for travel expenses which are reimbursable by the University shall conform with the accepted practices of that Institution.

9. Dr. [redacted], Department of Physiology, [redacted] and [redacted] are cleared through TOP SECRET and are aware of the real purpose of the project.

SLEEP AND INSOMNIA

Investigation of Problems Related to Sleep and Insomnia:

Sleep is characterized by a profound diminution of mental and physiological activities without external cause. The most obvious feature of this state is the spontaneous loss of consciousness persisting over a period of several hours.

Exactly what sleep is remains an open question. There is a multitude of theories regarding the cause of sleep, no one of which seems adequate and without gross exceptions. Some theories emphasize cardiovascular changes, others neurological, racial habits, "fatigue toxins", and subconscious mental processes. Basically, natural sleep must be distinguished from the sleeplike condition produced by drugs, physical trauma and hypnosis. Facts which might throw light upon the underlying processes are few and difficult to obtain.

Theories of Sleep:

1. Neuron Theory (Lepine, Duval), which postulated that the function of the cells of the higher cortical centers was suspended as a result of the retraction of the dendritic processes and the subsequent break in contact between neurons (synapses).

2. Cerebral Ischemia Theory. Howell suggested that fatigue of the vasomotor center with consequent vasodilatation of the peripheral vessels, especially of the skin, and reduction in cerebral blood flow was the primary change responsible for the onset of sleep.

3. Chemical theories:

   (a) Fatigue products, especially lactic acid, act by depressing the function of the cortex.

   (b) Hypnotoxin (Pieron), a substance produced by the brain tissue and acts as a soporific.

   (c) Bromhormone (Zondek and Bier). Sleep induced through the liberation of a bromine compound from the hypophysis.

4. Hypothalamus and Sleep: Several observations, both experimental and clinical, point to the existence of a sleep center in the diencephalon. Yet, contrary to the idea that sleep is caused by the excitation of the hypothalamus, other investigators believe that sleep results from the depression of hypothalamic activity. The hypothalamus is thus regarded as containing a waking center, sleep following its inhibition.

5. Pavlov's Theory: Pavlov believes sleep and internal inhibition to be essentially one and the same process, that sleep is simply the spread of internal inhibition over the entire cortex with subsequent involvement of subcortical levels. He was led to this conclusion by the behavior of animals during his investigations of conditioned reflex action. Drowsiness and sleep were frequent accompaniments of all forms of internal inhibition.

6. Kleitman's Theory: Sleep is due to the inactivity of the cerebral cortex resulting from a reduction in the number of afferent impulses, especially from the muscles, reaching the sensorium. Fatigue of the neuromuscular mechanism mediating muscle tone, with consequent suppression of impulses from muscle proprioceptors, is considered to be the most important factor in the onset of sleep.

   The exclusion of stimuli from visual, auditory and cutaneous receptors and the diminution of the flow of proprioceptor impulses as a result of muscular relaxation, are well known means employed to induce sleep, whereas cortical activity, whether from psychic causes--anxiety, stress, worry, excitement--as a result of impulses set up in exteroceptors or muscle receptors, prevents sleep. In extreme fatigue, when muscle tone is presumably at a minimum and the threshold of other afferent paths also raised as well, sleep comes on irresistibly.

7. Theories of narcosis: Various theories based on lipoid solubility, cellular oxidation, oxygen deprivation, metabolic enzymes, neuro-electrical potentials, etc., have been postulated as the cause of unnatural sleep.

It is our proposal to conduct the investigations along the following lines:

I. Physiology of Sleep:

The measurement and tabulation of bodily functions simultaneously so that a clear comprehensive physiological picture of sleep can be formulated for evaluation purposes in subsequent experimentations.

A literature survey will comprise the bulk of activity within this phase of research. Data will be gathered on the following physiological conditions during sleep: blood pressure, pulse rate, metabolic rate, body temperature, respiration, muscle tone, reflexes, psychogalvanic responses, urine volume and gastric secretion.

II. Narcosis:

Attempts will be made to distinguish natural sleep from the sleeplike condition produced by narcotic and soporific drugs. In addition, the pharmacological effects of synergism and antagonism between the narcotic and soporific drugs will be pursued in formulating the etiological basis of sleep.

The efficacy and mode of action of drug combinations such as chloralamide, chloralose, trional, sulphonal, methaform, and bromal bromoform will be investigated through animal experimentation.

Clinically, data on narcolepsy will be gathered from case histories, and patient followups in the University Hospital clinics.

III. Insomnia:

Experimentation will be conducted on the physiological changes produced by prolonged insomnia. The prolongation of insomnia will be effected by means of external stimuli and analeptic drugs. In addition, the extent and effect of prolonged physical fatigue, mental fatigue and sensory deprivation upon insomnia will be determined.

MEMORANDUM FOR: THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Termination of the [redacted] Account as of December 31, 1956, MKULTRA Subproject 57

1. On 3 January 1957, the [redacted] account of MKULTRA Subproject 57 was subjected to a semi-annual examination and was found to be in unsatisfactory condition. Immediately, the unrestricted use of the account by [redacted] was terminated. Obligated operational expenditures on the project (e.g. telephone service, etc.) precluded the immediate closure of the account. Subsequent withdrawals from the account are to be made only upon specific authorization by the project officer.

2. The following unsatisfactory items formed the basis for termination of the account.

A. In order to purchase a new [redacted] electric typewriter for use in the project, one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) was withdrawn by [redacted] on 8 May 1956 to serve as a deposit on the purchase. However, it developed that a deposit was not required by the [redacted] Subsequently, [redacted] never got around to redepositing the $1,000.00 until October 4, 1956. "Didn't get around to it." "Didn't realize it would make that much difference."

B. For some strange reason, [redacted] decided to request travel reimbursement for trip #3 from the University, even though all previous trips had been charged to the supplementary account. Checks No. 13-14-16-18-27 (total $190.05) were withdrawn to cover expenses on the trip. However, in asking the University for a refund of travel expenses, [redacted] requested only $148.22.

No adequate reason for the discrepancy could be furnished by [redacted] other than: "I rounded out the figure ($8.00 instead of $8.59). No space on the form to put in all the expenses."

Total expenditures on trip #3	$190.05
Travel refund claimed from University	148.22
Difference	41.83

[redacted]

Cause for difference

(1) Meals, [redacted] Aug. 18-19 (unclaimed)	12.54
(2) Taxi, [redacted] (Claimed $10.00 instead of $15.20)	5.20
(3) Entertainment during conference (unclaimed)	15.00
(4) Hotel in [redacted], August 16 (Claimed $6.00 instead of $8.59)	.59
(5) Proceedings of conference (unclaimed)	8.50
	41.83

C. [redacted] began work on the project in June 1956. Due to administrative difficulties in funding, money was not received by the University until July 1956. Therefore, no University salary for the month of June 1956 was forthcoming, since it was not the policy of the University to pay salaries on a retroactive basis. Check #20 ($467.13) represents [redacted]'s University salary for June 1956 ($500.00 per month minus standard deductions, $467.13).

[redacted]s total compensation is $8,615.00 per annum payable in the following manner:

a, University grant salary	$6,000.00
b, University instructorship	400.00
c, Supplementary salary	2,215.00
	$8,615.00

Therefore, as a supplementary salary [redacted] draws $184.58 each month. On September 12, 1956, [redacted] withdrew $738.32 (check #22) as supplementary salary for June-September 1956. When asked why the supplementary salary was not withdrawn on a monthly basis: "Didn't need it at the time." "It's as good as in the bank."

From October-December 1956 (checks #24-31-36) [redacted] paid himself one month in advance.

As of January 1957 (time of examination) [redacted] is being paid at the end of the month on a monthly basis by cashier's check issued by the project officer.

D. On September 12, 1956, (check #21) an advance of $350.00 was made to Mrs. [redacted]. A sudden unexpected illness of Mrs. [redacted]'s father-in-law necessitated the emergency return of his family. The advance was for the purpose of purchasing a plane ticket. On October 2, 1956, the advance was refunded by Mrs. [redacted]

Due to deposits not being posted in time, double entries are noted on the bank statements.

Again, without adequate reason, the supplementary salary for Mrs. [redacted] (August-September) totaling $300.00 was paid in two odd amounts $166.66 on September 28, 1956 (check #23) and $133.34 on October 4, 1956 (check #25). Upon examining the financial statement, the account was overdrawn starting September 12, 1956 (check #22). By redepositing the $1,000.00 on October 4, 1956 (See para 2A) a sufficient balance was attained to meet outstanding checks.

E. On September 28, 1956 a withdrawal of $52.13 was made. The explanation was that Mrs. [redacted] wrote a check on the [redacted] for $52.13. Somehow the check was inadvertently sent to the [redacted] and debited on [redacted]'s account. A redeposit of $52.13 was made on October 22, 1956 to correct this "bank error".

4. It must be pointed out that in the last analysis, there was no misappropriation of funds in question. However, there existed a high degree of either gross mismanagement and stupidity--or both--on the part of [redacted]. The whole concept, intent and purpose of the supplementary account was either misunderstood or misconstrued to the point where it became worthless.

5. For other equally pertinent reasons, (see memo for the record, Termination of MKULTRA Subproject #57, dated 1 March 1957) the project is to be terminated 31 May 1957. All residual funds in the University at the end of the project year will be refunded to the

[redacted]

Funding Organization ([redacted]). At the same time, any residual funds contained in the [redacted] account at the time of termination will be returned to the Agency.
