A 1. On Tuesday morning (14 July 1953), the writer, accompanied by [redacted] of the Technical Branch and
G+C of [redacted] visited the offices of [redacted]
C and examined and tested in a general way the Sidetone Delay device that [redacted] had brought from [redacted] to Washington.

G 2. These tests, referred to above, were of a perfunctory nature and concerned the working of the device rather than testing of the device for the needs of [redacted] or the Technical Branch.

B 3. This conference concluded at approximately 11:15 AM with the agreement that after [redacted] had made a brief study of the Sidetone Delay device and had taken whatever photographs or papers they consider necessary, the [redacted] people responsible would get in touch with the writer and arrange for the delivery of the Sidetone Delay device and related papers to the Technical Branch. No time was estimated for this but the writer was informed that it would not take long, the implication being that [redacted] interest would be only a matter of a few days.

C 4. It should be noted for the record that [redacted] were both out of the city for this demonstration. The writer left word for [redacted] to call him upon her return to her desk in connection with the Sidetone delay device matter.

C 5. Thereafter, arrangements were made with [redacted] to discuss certain secret matters with the writer at 3:00 PM the same day and to discuss certain matters pertaining to the polygraph with [redacted] and some of his group on the following day, Wednesday, A 15 July 1953, in [redacted] office.
