Subject: SI and H Experimentation, 27 May 1953

On Wednesday, 27 May 1953, [redacted] and the writer conducted H experimentation and research with [redacted] and [redacted] attended the session for a while but left before actual work began.

Since there were only two subjects present, the writer turned the entire evening over to [redacted] and each took turn in producing H phenomena. [redacted] working wit[redacted] succeeded in obtaining a deep sleep state twice and in the second induction was able to produce catalepsy of both arms, a good change of position and ultimately had the subject open her eyes for several moments. [redacted] was unable to produce any illusions with the subject.

A

[redacted] worked exclusively with [redacted] and obtained a good sleep state twice but did not attempt to produce either movement or any of the other tests for advanced work.

In the opinion of the writer, both [redacted] and [redacted] made greater advanced tonight then they had heretofore and the writer believes that it was because there were only two subjects present and the distraction of having four subjects and four operators present slowed down the learning processes o[redacted]

For matter of record, it should be noted that [redacted] worked part of the time wit[redacted] Polish and was as successful in that language as in English.
